

'This years winning contribution'

This prestigious award recognises outstanding contributions in the field of parasite control in companion animals, and is awarded each year to an individual who has distinguished themselves by making significant contributions in the field of companion animal parasite control. Open to professionals and clinics leading advancements in parasite management for pets, through use of novel approaches to practical parasite management, education or pioneering research or development.

The winner will be celebrated during the LVS 2025 and featured in our publications

Scan the QR code for entry details

And your chance to win £500.

www.esccapuk.org.uk

